HIS CHILDREN SHARE EQUALLY.

Legacies Given and Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars Devoted to

EDUCATION, RELIGION AND CHARITY

Yesterday the will of the late William Thuw was admitted to probate by Register Connors, and letters testamentary issued to the widow, Mary Copley Thaw, and three sons-William Thaw, Jr., Benjamin Thaw, Alexandria Blair Thaw-and his son-in-law, W. R. Thompson. The will is dated July 5, 1889, and William Jackson, T. H. B. McKnight and Robert R. Reed are witnesses. It covers 36 pages, legal cap, typewritten. The material portions are:

To the executors, their survivors and duly appointed successors, all the testator's estate, except coal and coal lands otherwise disposed of, in trust, that they shall execute the provisions of the will.

With these exceptions the estate is to be inventoried and appraised by said executors and then divided into 16 shares of equal value, certain shares to be increased or diminished according to certain contingencies. The estator says that as creditors will not probably need the information, and others interested can get it from the executors, the inventory and appraisement shall not be filed with the Register of Wills unless said action be legally directed to pay to Mary Copely Thaw, testator's widow, $10,000 in cash, in addition to any other provision made for her, out of and chargeable to three equal shares, excepting coal and coal lands, and subsequently called supply parts.

MRS. THAW PROVIDED POR. Testator directs that of the 16 equal parts named three shall be conveyed to the widow, ramed three shall be conveyed to the widow, provided she survive testator 30 days next ensuing after the admission of the will to probate. This provision was intended to enable her to make testamentary disposition in case she died before testator or within 30 days of probate the before testator or within 30 days of probate the three equal "parts or shares of my estate to be allotted or set apart to my children, and the in-oreased number of equal parts or shares of my estate so allotted or set apart to my children shall be fairly divided into as many equal parts as there are children of mine surviving me, ir-respective of their maternal descent, and in-cluding as one such the lawful issue of any deceased child; and the said executors or trusdeceased child; and the said executors, or trustees from time to time acting, shall carry out and perform concerning such enlarged equal parts the directions and provisions hereinatter contained, relative to the equal parts or shares of my estate to be allotted or set apart to my children." At the end of that period, if she survive, the property vests in her absolutely.

Of all the 15 equal parts 10 are allotted to testator's children, Eliza, widow of George B. Edwards; William Mary, wife of William R. Thompson; Benjamin and Alexander Blair, five children of testator's deceased wife, Eliza Burd Blair and Henry Kendall, Edward, Josiah Copley, Margaret and Alice Cornelia, the five children of testator's wife, Mary Copley; but these parts are held in trust by the executors. eased child; and the said executors, or trusthese parts are held in trust by the executors, The three remaining shares, styled "supply parts," are devoted to the payment of all lawful debts, taxes, commissions, expenses, etc., incident to the execution of the will, gifts, bequests, annuities, etc., and if any residue to be quests, annuities, etc., and if any residue to be disposed of as subsequently directed. Gifts, bequests, etc., are directed to reach recipients without diminution by reason of any cause whatsoever, and wife and children are similarly protected, all charges to be paid from "supply parts" for two years following testa-tor's death, after which all except annuities shall bear their own lawful expense. HOW TO DIVIDE VALUES.

The executors are empowered to designate items of the estate which at their appraised value shall constitute each one of all the 16 equal shares, appraisers to be appointed by the executors, or trustees then acting, seals ac knowledged and writings acknowledged and recorded, if necessary, or expedient.

The property on Fifth street, testator's home-The property on Fifth street, testator's home-stead for 36 years, contents, appurtenances, including stable, horses, vehicles, plate, jew-elry, etc., lot and cottage at Cresson, exclud-ing cash stocks, bonds or shares in action that may be therein, lot in Allegheny Cemetery, al-together to be appraised at $40,000, and at that valuation form part of the property allotted to the shares of children minors at testator's de-together to be appraised at $40,000, and at that valuation form part of the property allotted to the shares of children, minors at testator's decease except that his widow is requested to enjoy them for life without charge.

It is directed that testator's lot in the Allegheiny Cemetery shall be free for burial purposes of all his immediate family and descendants. He directs that his other for be resold to the Allegheiny Cemetery at cost and interest for roadway purposes, and unless they see good reason to the contrary the executors are to assign his Wood street property, Nos. 46 and 48, and his Smithfield street property, Nos. 102, 104 and 108, to the shares of his children.

Provision is made that if there be increase of lawful issue after date of will such issue shall be taken care of by a reapportionment. The same provision is made in case of death of any of the heirs, by which the size of the shares are increased. "But the whole number of shares shall in no event be less than 12 my purpose being that not less than one-half of my estate shall go to my children, even should a less number than six of them survive me, including as one such the lawful issue of each deceased child; in which case the said half, being 12 equal parts or shares, shall be fairly divided into a many equal portions as there are children surviving me, and with reference to said equal portions of said half said executors shall perform and carry out all the provisions and directions in this will set forth affecting the equal parts or shares to be allotted to or set apart for my children."

AS JOINT PROPERTY.

The shares of the minor children are to be managed as joint property during their minority. The heirs who are of age are to be paid at once one half their property, and the minors, as they reach their majority, one-fourth of as they reach their majority, one-fourth of their share allotted, the remainder to be man-aged by trustees appointed by the executors, and it is provided that these heirs cannot en-cumber, assign, convey or anticipate, the pro-visions being applicable to the lawful issue of any deceased child, who shall take the place of the deceased. Should any child die without issue his share is to be equally divided among the remainder, irrespective of maternal de-scent.

issue his shore is to be equally divided among the remainder, irrespective of maternal descent.

It is willed that the executors, survivors or successors shall continue to act so long as any act of administration is necessary. The executors are empowered to associate with themselves as trustees or as guardians suitable persons, but such shall not become guardians unless to fill vacancies in the number of executors for which the will makes provision. The number of executors and the number of trustees of the shares allotted to the minor children shall not at any time be less than three.

"Whenever a trustee or trustees shall be required under the provisions of this will, for whose appointment direction is not otherwise given, such trustee or trustees shall be required under the provisions of this will, for whose appointed by the executors of my will or the trustees from time time acting (as distinguished from the separate trustees a papointed to hold the respective parts of shares in trust for my children) and I authorize and empower said executors or the trustees after my children and separate trustees are required to appoint one or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or more such separate trustees at their discretion in each mistance when such separate trustee or mistance to make the estate of the minor children, the testator proceeds to give mistallments for life, to Cousin Harriet A. Brashear, and shall not be assignable or transferable voluntarily or by judicial or other sale, and that it shall extend only to the occupancy of said premises for the purposes above mentioned.

"In case said supply parts shall prove insufficient to perform and carry out the provisions and directions in this my last will contained relative thereto, the deficiency shall first fail upon the bequest of $100,000 to the trustees of the Western University of Pennsylvania, to the ruit amount thereof if necessary, and subsequently, should there still be a deficiency, next upon the bequest to colleges or institutions of carring pro rala, or to the full amount thereof, as may be necessary, and next, in like manner, on bequests to religious boards, and next upon bequests to hospitals and institutions or organizations of charity or beneficence."

After making a great many provisions of various kinds to cover the imitifatious conditions under which the property lies, Mr. Thaw says that warned by his knowledge of chalms that may be set up against his estate, I wish to declare, both for the guidance of said executors and of any tribunals that may be called upon to adjudicate any claims against my estate, that I have not in the past given or executed any 'honds of friendship,' as that term is now understood in this country, or any other instruments of writing out of the usual line of business transactions. Bor made any verbal promises nor do intend hereafter to give or execute any such writings or make any verbal promises which can or ought to be the basis of any claim for money against my estate; and I hereby instruct the executors of this my will to resist any such pretended claims by whomsoever made.

A COKE TRUST.

A COKE TRUST.

A COKE TRUST.

Coal and coal lands, options, etc., in Westmoreiand and Fayette counties, held by testator, are to be paid for out of the three supply parts of the estate devised unto William R. Thompson, William Thaw, Jr., and Benjamin Thaw, who are designated as "The Coke Trust," to hold the same as undivided property until it shall be advantageous to begin mining the coal, and then to do business. Recommending that no haste be made to begin operations nor waste allowed. Care of every kind is enjoined, so that schemers be not allowed to skim the cream: that maps be made and operations so conducted that the entire body shall be made available and profitably worked.

The trustees are enjoined from running or coking for themselves, or being participants save as lessors, and leases are to be made it such manner that leasees shall make all improvements at their own cost, but nothing contained in the will is to be construed so as to prohibit testator's sons. William and Benjamin, from so operating and should it be found that the best interest of the trust call for the postponement of the date by leasing and the coke trust be found lacking revenue, money therefor is to be taken from the three supply parts of the estate, but lest the settlement of the estate be hampered no payments are to be made except during two years next ensuing, it being expected that the coal trust shall be at least self-sustaining thereafter. It is ordered that none of said coal shall be sold in hulk before January 1, 1800, nor afterward, unless it be found for the best interest of the trust, except to straighten lines or for better ventilation or drainare, etc., etc.

NO BONDS NEEDED. The number of trustees is always to be kept at three, survivors to fill vacancies. Neither the trustees named nor those appointed are to be required to give bonds for the faithful performance of their duties, the power of the courts being invoked to remove any who shall misconduct themselves.

As soon as there shall be a revenue the net proceeds are to be ascertained semi-annualty, 10 per cent to be retained for the protection of the trust and the coke trust is to be continued during the natural lives of all the testator's children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, during the further period of 21 years next consing after the death of the survivor of all said children, grandchildren and great grandchildren, unless the coal shall have been sooner exhausted, and they are to receive the net income less the 10 per cent aforesaid. The trust is to be made perpetual, and as children, grandchildren or great-grandchildren die their shares are to be divided among the remainder. Particular attention is enjoined to secure the interests of daughters, granddaughters and other female descendants.

The beneficiaries are not to be allowed to ensumber or anticipate, transfer or sell for debts and when the coal is exhausted the trustees will be allowed to sell the lands remaining, the proceeds to be paid to the beneficiaries.

Buring the first two years executors' services are to be paid out of the supply parts of the estate, and compensation shall not be less than 55,000 nor more than $5,000 to each executor for the entire term of two years. They are desired to employ sufficient and competent clerical help, to be paid out of the supply parts during two years.

Finalty provision is made for the filling of vacancies in the ranks of the executors by those remaining.

Mr. Thaw's estate is variously estimated to foot selves.

Health is Explained. Last week the Allegheny death rate increased from 26 to 33. Twelve were of children under 12 years, and seven of these were of mere infants. Nine of the children died from cholera infantum and three from whooping cough. Typhoid is reported as decreasing rapidly, and there was but one death from that cause.

Superintendent Armstrong says it is the abundant drinking and use of water to sprinkle streets that has kept Allegheny so healthy. The water required daily is 20,-000,000 gallons.
